

Near Highland Training School, Chodikee Lake

Power Plant Site May Extend Into Esopus

By MATT SPIRENG

TOWN OF LLOYD

The Town of Lloyd site being studied for possible future location of two or more atomic power plants is located at the northern boundary of the township, and may possibly extend into the Town of Esopus, The Freeman has learned.

According to an informed source, the area under study is located west of Route 9W, north of Route 299, and east of Chodikee Lake Road. As such, the study site would be located in the vicinity of the Highland Training School and Chodikee Lake.

A site study being conducted by the New York State Atomic and Space Development Authority was first revealed in The Freeman on Feb. 21. At that time a description of the site, pieced together from a number of sources, was that it is isolated; inland from the Hudson River, but not so far inland that the Hudson cannot be used as a water source; features rocky ledges and wetlands; cannot be seen from the Town of Lloyd except from a high vantage point, and not at all from the east side of the river; and is near the Town of Lloyd boundary. The exact location was not revealed.

The site pointed out to The Freeman near the Town of Esopus boundary fits all portions of the description.

Although he would not confirm the information concerning the site's location, Town of Lloyd Supervisor Louis Foscaldi would not deny that the study site is located in the area mentioned near the northern boundary of the township.

Special

Esopus Town Supervisor George Freer said he has heard nothing about the site being partially in his township.

D. W. Hall, an ASDA spokesman, told The Freeman:

"I can't confirm the precise location because we're involved in a study area. If the studies prove affirmative, we will give the precise location of the site." He would not deny that the site mentioned is the one under study.

According to Hall, once the results of the study are known there will be a general meeting with the public, and the results and plans will be made known.

According to ASDA policy, final site selection is made only after information developed from ASDA testing is made available to the concerned federal, state, and local agencies and officials, environmental and civic groups and the general public.

ASDA is in charge of finding and evaluating sites, but does not develop the sites. The actual building of the power plants is done by outside private companies.

Asked if the Town of Lloyd site is under consideration for Consolidated Edison use, Hall said, "I would be surprised if Con Ed weren't interested in this site, but others (power companies) might be interested." He suggested that if the site is approved, a consortium of companies might develop it.

Hall said the site should have no effect on the Highland Training School.

It has previously been said that the site will be more than 1,000 acres, but "probably" less than 2,000. The plants themselves would take up about 100 acres. The remainder of the site would be used for recreation, a buffer zone, and possible wetlands preservation.

Tearful Sendoff for Slain U. S. Diplomats

Guerrillas Face Execution

KHARTOUM (UPI) — Sudanese officials told American diplomats today that the Black September Palestinian guerrillas who murdered two American and one Belgian diplomat in the Saudi Arabian Embassy on Friday face execution for their deeds.

American sources said Sudanese officials who were at Khartoum airport to see the bodies of the two Americans flown back to the United States with their families approached U.S. diplomats and told them, "They will be executed."

Diplomats, Sudanese officials and newsmen wept openly today as a U.S. presidential plane left Khartoum to take home the bodies and families of the diplomats.

The burlap-wrapped bodies of U.S. Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr. and Charge d'Affaires G. Curtis Moore were carried from the blood-spattered Saudi Arabian Embassy on Sunday. The eight guerrillas surrendered to Sudanese authorities after holding out for 60 hours. The terrorists also killed the Belgian Charge d'Affaires, Guy Eid, but freed Jordanian Charge Adley el Nasser, Saudi Ambassador Abdullah Malhouk and his wife unharmed.

A band softly played Auld Lang Syne as the flag-draped coffins were lifted into the Boeing jet shortly after dawn, and the grieving families said goodbye to the long line of well wishers.

Two U.S. Marines in dress blues flanked each casket, but otherwise there was no ceremony.

President Jaafar al Numairi assigned Minister of Reform Abdul Rahman Abdul Ilah to accompany the bodies of Noel and Moore and to present Sudan's condolences to President Nixon.

In Washington, the State Department said the plane would arrive at Andrews Air Force Base about 4 p.m. EST. The two diplomats will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

The eight guerrillas, members of the Black September liberation movement, were held at a Khartoum army headquarters.

President Nixon cabled President Numairi that he would deal firmly with them. We find the killing of these men outrageous," he said.

A high-ranking member of the Sudanese government told diplomats privately: "The guerrillas are already dead men."

More than 100 paratroopers surrounded the embassy Sunday as the eight Palestinians, described as between 19 and 25 years old, emerged from the building flashing victory signs.

In a statement issued in Beirut, Black September said the guerrillas surrendered "because of the high esteem we hold" for Numairi.

"We leave them in trust in his hands," the statement said. "We are confident they will be treated as true revolutionary fighters."

Farewell Notes Before Being Shot

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Before executing two American diplomats and a Belgian envoy, Black September guerrillas gave them a chance to write farewell notes to their families.

Ambassador Abdullah Malhouk of Saudi Arabia, who also was held hostage by the commandos, said the slain diplomats used their last 25 minutes to write the letters, remaining "very brave and calm up to their deaths."

"They kept themselves composed," Malhouk recalled, tears in his eyes.

He talked with newsmen about four hours after the guerrillas surrendered and left the Saudi embassy to end 60 hours of terror during which they killed U.S. Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr., U.S. Charge d'Affaires G. Curtis Moore and Belgian Charge d'Affaires Guy Eid.

Asked why the three were executed Malhouk replied: "Because the fedayeen considered them enemies of the Palestinian cause."

He confirmed that all three were executed at the same time, about 9 p.m. Friday. That was when nearby onlookers heard the bursts of muffled automatic weapons fire. The ambassador said the eight guerrillas were from 19 to 25 years old.

Jordanian Charge d'Affaires Adley el Nasser, also held hostage, emerged looking pale, unshaven and shaken. He had blood on his trousers and shoes.

He told newsmen he and Malhouk were neither hit nor mistreated, "although there were some frightening moments."

The Saudi ambassador said both men were told by the guerrillas no harm would come to them.

Nasser returned to the Saudi Embassy to talk to newsmen. He was carrying his 3-year-old daughter Ola.

Asked if his daughter was happy to see him, tears came to his eyes and he said: "You should have seen the way she greeted me."

A plate glass door of the embassy was shattered and three other windows had bullet holes, made when the guerrillas stormed a reception Thursday night.

The Saudi ambassador said the guerrillas had planted explosives on the ground floor but two Sudanese army ordinance teams defused them immediately after the surrender.

The eight masked and armed guerrillas, members of the same organization that killed 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team last year in Munich, invaded the embassy in an attempt to gain the release of dozens of jailed prisoners, one of them Sirhan B. Sirhan, a Jordanian emigrant serving a life term at San Quentin for the 1968 slaying of Robert F. Kennedy.

President Nixon refused Friday to free Sirhan and the guerrillas dropped their demands for the release of prisoners in West Germany and Israel. They insisted Jordan free jailed Arab guerrillas there, but King Hussein refused.

Within hours, the guerrillas killed Noel, Moore and Eid. "We all knew the two Americans were going to be shot and they themselves were well aware of it," said the Saudi ambassador. "The guerrillas gave them paper and pen and untied them and told them to write their last letters to their wives and families."

Sudan army officers who entered the embassy building found the bullet-riddled bodies of three men lying in pools of blood in the basement.

All had been beaten and kicked before being shot, the officers said, with Noel so severely attacked that one officer said he could not tell whether Noel was a black man or a white one.

140 More POWs Are Freed

CLARK AIR BASE. Philipines (AP) — Another 34 prisoners of war released by the Viet Cong were flown out of Hanoi to freedom today, following 106 Americans and two Thais released by the North Vietnamese on Sunday.

A C141 flying hospital picked up 30 Americans, including three civilians; two West German medical workers; and two Filipino employees of the Voice of America at Hanoi's Gia Lam Airport.

A C130 Hercules transport landed a 20-man advance party at Hanoi's Gia Lam Airport this morning, and a C141 Starlifter hospital plane touched down in the North Vietnamese capital to pick up 30 Americans, two German medical workers and two Filipino employees of the Voice of America.

The men landed at Clark Air Base for a red carpet welcome.

The United States resumes its withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam. Story on page 18.

President Ferdinand E. Marcos headed the welcomes because two Filipino employees of the Voice of America were among those freed. With them were 27 American servicemen, three American civilians and two West German medical workers.

One of the West Germans was Monika Schwin, 30, the only foreign woman known to be held by the Communists.

It was the second prisoner release by the Communists in two days.

The North Vietnamese said they now have freed 299 Americans since the Jan. 28 cease-fire. Today was the first time the Viet Cong have released any prisoners at Hanoi.

Their previous release of 20 Americans on Feb. 12 occurred north of Saigon.

The Communists still hold 286 Americans, all of whom are to be released by March 28.

On hand with Marcos to greet the POWs were U.S. Ambassador Henry A. Byroade; Adm. Noel Gayler, the commander in chief of American forces in the Pacific; and the commander of the 13th Air Force, Lt. Gen. William G. Moore Jr.

The senior American among the POWs was Army Capt. Stephen R. Leopold, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis., who was captured in Kontum Province during a firefight May 9, 1968.

The Americans also included five GIs who were working for the armed forces radio-television network in Hue when they were captured Feb. 3, 1968, during the Tet offensive.

The two Filipinos also were captured in Hue during the Tet offensive. The families of both men were at the flight line to greet them.

All the U. S. airmen freed Sunday appeared healthy as they stepped from the three planes that brought them from Hanoi. They celebrated their freedom at Clark Field's 270-bed military hospital by calling wives and family members in the United States and devouring huge amounts of steak, fried eggs and ice cream.

Several of the freed POWs also held a 15-minute religious service in the hospital's Red Cross lounge shortly after arrival.

"We returned from war to freedom only America can give," Navy Cmdr. Eugene B. McDaniel, 41, of Virginia Beach, Va., said in a sermon during the service.

"It is futile to be sad or glad about things which might not come... When adversity comes, take it patiently with the helping hand of God."

Officials said the sermon was prepared by McDaniel last week after he learned there would be a delay in the group's release. The men had been scheduled for release last Tuesday but were delayed by a disagreement over implementation of the cease-fire terms.

Operation Homecoming officials said the group freed Sunday would spend about three days in the Philippines before flying to the United States.

Happy Dutchess Family, Parents Hear the Good News

ROGER A. MILLER

(UPI Telephoto)

There are two very happy parents in the Northern Dutchess County hamlet of Millerton today. And it is no small occurrence that has placed smiles on their faces.

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller have a son coming home—not from some distant U.S. city, not from an extended pleasure trip to a foreign land, but from prolonged captivity in South Vietnam.

Army CW02 Roger A. Miller, a Viet Cong prisoner of war for nearly three years, was released today, according to a Pentagon release.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller learned the news on Friday, but until the actual release of their son they didn't allow their hopes to run too high. There had been a false start previously: on February 9 the Millers thought their son would be released in one or two days. He wasn't. They continued to wait.

But since the POW lists were released in January the waiting has been easier for the Millers than it was previously.

Roger A. Miller, 30, was shot down over South Vietnam while on a helicopter mission during April of 1970, one month after he had been assigned to the war zone. From that date until the POW lists were released earlier this year the Millers didn't know whether their son was dead or alive. He was listed as missing in action.

"Previously we just said he'd be found and there would be news of him," Mrs. Miller told The Freeman. "We never gave up hope whatsoever."

"When he was shot down they said he wasn't wounded, so I knew he had to be alive somewhere," Mrs. Miller explained. Now it is no longer hearsay and hope that causes the William Millers to say their son is alive. He is coming home.

Today or Tuesday they expect to speak to their son on the telephone. Considering there has not even been a letter from him in three years, that alone will be a high time for the Millers.

But the phone call from Roger won't be the only one the Millers will get. On Feb. 9 when they first thought their son would be released, their phone never stopped ringing, according to Mrs. Miller.

Newsman from near and far wanted to interview Mr. and Mrs. Miller. They were told that the Millers really knew very little for certain. They were told that the Millers really didn't have much to say until they knew for certain that Roger was on his way home.

But The Freeman visited them then, and the Millers had much to say, although not in words. Their faces told the story: they were obviously happy in the way of people who refrain from saying how happy they are.

"That's silly. Of course we're happy," Mr. Miller said quietly when asked then how he felt about Roger's expected return.

DRIVER TRAPPED—Jesse D. Bohnstedt, 39, of 16 Allen Street, Saugerties, was trapped in his auto for nearly an hour early today after the car he was driving left Route 9W in the Town of Saugerties, struck a telephone pole snapping it in two, and proceeded another 50 feet into a tree. Assisting at the scene were Saugerties Town Police and Saugerties Ambulance Service. Bohnstedt was rushed to Kingston Hospital, reportedly suffering from leg and rib injuries. ## Allende Hails Results in Chile

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Opposition parties gained in a critical election for President Salvador Allende Sunday, but failed to pick up enough seats in the Chamber of Deputies and Senate to oust the self-described Marxist leader.

Allende hailed the results as a triumph for his minority government led by a combination of Communists and Socialists. He was imperiled by an impeachment threat in case of an opposition victory.

There was only one reported incident of violence on election day. Police and army troops used tear gas to break up crowds of political rivals assembling a block away from the presidential palace.

Allende's coalition received more than 40 per cent of the vote in elections for all 150 members of the Chamber of Deputies and for 25 of the 50 members of the Senate.

The government said it gained five seats in the Chamber of Deputies and three in the Senate, bringing its total to 63 deputies and 20 senators.

Gaullists Keep Edge In France

PARIS (UPI) — Communists and Socialists, forming an election coalition for the first time in 37 years, seized the lead today in first-round voting for a new government but were still short of enough seats to wrest control from the Gaullists.

Official figures early today gave 9,081,142 votes to the leftwing coalition, 8,569,332 to the Gaullists and 1,374,187 to a middle-of-the-road reform bloc.

With results from 446 of the 490 constituencies, the leftwing coalition led the Gaullist coalition by 2.3 per cent.

Only 55 seats were decided in Sunday's vote by a record 81.2 per cent of the electorate. Gaullists captured 44 seats and the left took nine but most of the Gaullist victories were scored in places that traditionally vote conservative.

Political experts said the voting bore out predictions the government would lose most of its present 112-seat majority in the National Assembly and could be forced into a deal with the reform bloc.

At the same time, they said it was unlikely the left would gain control of the National Assembly and that Gaullists would rule for another five years.

The final results come next Sunday when 30 million voters return to the polls to make their choice among candidates forced into run-offs.

Communists and Socialists forged the first electoral alliance in 35 years in a bid to topple the Gaullists who have governed France uninterrupted for 15 years.

Gaullist leader Alain Peyrefitte said it was too early to predict if Premier Georges Pompidou's government would seek a deal with the reform bloc that looks like it is holding the balance of power.

Some political sources said the government had no alternative.

McGovern Attacks TV Commercials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An American child who is a "moderate" viewer of television sees 5,000 commercials a year—80,000 commercials by the time he reaches 16.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., gave the figures and added that a large proportion of the commercials deal with food products—predominantly breakfast and snack foods.

McGovern cited surveys by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which "indicate a disturbing decline in some very important parts of the traditional American diet."

"This decline is accompanied by a striking increase in the consumption of an array of nontraditional snack kinds of foods," McGovern said.

McGovern called his Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs into session today for three days of hearings designed to try to determine what effect commercials have upon children's diets.

Nutritionists and preventive dentistry experts were scheduled as the first witnesses, but food producers and advertisers were conspicuously absent.

In a statement Sunday, McGovern said Kellogg, General Mills and General Foods, as well as the advertising agencies of Leo Burnett, Dancer, Fitzgerald, and Sample and Benton Bowles had refused an invitation to appear.

He said they refused on the basis that to appear would conflict with their interest in a pending complaint filed against them by the Federal Trade Commission.

"The FTC complaint focusing on questions of restraint of trade and monopoly power bears only the most indirect relationship to the basic kinds of nutrition education, health and diet questions which are the subject of this committee's investigation," McGovern said.

Off-Duty Policeman Killed in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — An off-duty policeman was shot and killed on a Harlem street corner early today during an exchange of gunfire with a man fleeing a grocery store after a holdup.

The suspect, according to the police, was on leave from the Army. He was not immediately identified.

The officer shot was immediately rushed in a patrol car to St. Luke's Hospital, where he died shortly afterwards.

The dead policeman's name was withheld, pending notification of his kin.

Police said the 2:45 a.m. shootout followed a holdup at a grocery store at 100 St. Nicholas Ave. The officer was shot once in the back and once in the arm as he chased the robbery suspect.

Adirondack Master Plan... Show-Cause Order Obtained

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI)—The curtain may not rise as scheduled Tuesday for the legislative debut of the Adirondack Park Agency's master plan for private land use if efforts by a score of towns in the area are successful.

A group of nearly 20 communities, most of them directly affected by the plan and more than half of them in Franklin County, obtained a show-cause order in State Supreme Court over the weekend attempting to block the presentation this week.

The order, signed by Justice Harold R. Soden of Lake Placid Saturday, is returnable today at Plattsburgh. Naming APA Chairman Richard Lawrence and State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, the papers claim the agency did not provide the towns with sufficient consultation prior to finalizing the plan for introduction to the legislature.

Following today's arguments, a decision will be made whether to make the stay permanent, thus effectively putting off the presentation of the master plan, which has received heavy criticism in many of the north country towns it affects. "The action was taken under Article 78 of the State Civil Practice Law, where the courts are empowered to review action by the government so that a governmental agency doesn't do anything illegal," Lawrence said.

He indicated the motion caught him by surprise, but added that "any governmental action can be questioned at any time."

Lawrence said the towns named in the suit, more than half of them in Franklin County, "claim that we were not complying with the law — in that there was not adequate consultation with the towns. They say there was, in effect, none."

The agency held 16 public hearings on the master plan, and "many consultations with members of the various town boards in the Adirondack area, along with a record of activity dating back to last summer," Lawrence said.

Lawrence said Lefkowitz would present evidence to the court Monday to show that the agency had complied with the law requiring discussions with the affected areas before any master plan could go to the state legislature.

Attorney Livingston L. Hatch of Keeseville, represented the towns in the show cause action.

A spokesman for the APA said last week that the agency had agreed to 500 of 800 changes in the plan which had been

Implement Cache Given to Police

TOWN OF SAUGERTIES — An unidentified Saugerties resident on Sunday turned over to State Police a waterproof bag containing 140 hypodermic needles and four bottles of assorted tablets where he reportedly found under an abandoned rowboat on the shore of the Esopus Creek in the Town of Saugerties.

A BCI investigator at the Hurley barracks said there are no leads in the case. BCI personnel are continuing to investigate the matter.

Drug Arrests By State Police In Highland

Highland State Police arrested two New York City area men Sunday night on drug charges following a routine vehicle and traffic check.

Arrested on charges of criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the fourth degree (marijuana) and criminal possession of a narcotic implement (a pipe) was Brian Barrack, 21, of Brooklyn. Also taken into custody was Richard Preston, 22, of Ozone Park, who was charged with criminal possession of a narcotic implement.

Appearing before Lloyd Town Justice Lewis DiStasi, both men pleaded guilty to the implement charges. Barrack also pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the sixth degree. Preston was released after paying a $50 fine. Barrack was confined in Ulster County Jail for 30 days in lieu of payment of a $150 fine.

Parenthood Clinic Set

RHINEBECK — The first session of the new Planned Parenthood clinic, sponsored by the Northern Dutchess Hospital in cooperation with Planned Parenthood of Dutchess County, will be held Wednesday at 9 p.m. at the Nurses Residence, directly across from the hospital.

The sessions will meet at 9 p.m. every first Wednesday of the month, and will provide complete physical examinations, pap smears, VD testing, and on request, pregnancy testing and counseling.

Mrs. Barbara Bird, RN of Red Hook, will serve as nurse-director, and Dr. Ann Pressman, a Poughkeepsie physician, will also be on hand to perform examinations. Mrs. Bernice Regunburg, executive director of the Poughkeepsie Planned Parenthood Center, stressed that all females of reproductive age are eligible to attend the clinic, with no restrictions as to age or marital status. All transactions are confidential, and while there is a nominal charge, no one is ever turned away for lack of funds.

Volunteers for the program are being recruited. Those who wish to participate in the first meeting may assure their appointment by calling the Poughkeepsie Planned Parenthood Office.

The Rhinebeck office is the latest adjunct of the program, which includes branches in New Paltz, Beacon, Ardenia. It is expected that a Kingston branch will be opened soon.

FUND CHAIRMAN — Oakley C. Maynard (L) has been named chairman of this month's Red Cross Fund Drive in the Ulster County townships outside of the United Way Area, and here discusses campaign strategy with Mrs. Walter K. Hubbard, executive director of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross and James B. Thompson, chapter chairman. A resident of Port Ewen, Maynard is employed at Hercules, Inc. and is chairman of the Port Ewen Water Board. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Man Arrested After Accident

TOWN OF RED HOOK — A 23-year-old Red Hook man was arrested by Rhinebeck State Police Sunday night on a charge of reckless driving following an investigation of a car-pedestrian mishap Friday night which resulted in injuries to two teenagers, one of whom had his leg amputated.

Arrested was Michael Rowland of Route 9, Red Hook. Police said Rowland was traveling along Route 199 Friday night when he applied his brakes and struck a guide rail and the two youths who were standing on the shoulder of the road.

Injured were Carl Pack, 13, of 4 West Bard Avenue, Red Hook, whose leg was amputated as the result of injuries according to police, and Steven

WHITA Members to Attend Phone Hike Request Hearing

ALBANY Southern Ulster County Committee of WHITA, Wawarsing designed by the Republican members of the Legislature (D-Dist. 10) related some of his findings concerning the telephone rate hikes, gleaned from hearings in Poughkeepsie in January. He urged WHITA members to write an open letter to county legislators requesting that several of those who supported the reapportionment plan appear in a panel discussion sponsored by WHITA so that a full scale airing of the plan may be presented for the public's enlightenment.

WHITA received its invitation to attend from the state's Public Service Commission. The 10 a.m. meeting will be held at the commission office, 44 Holland Avenue for the purpose of questioning George Levine, who has opposed the granting of the rate hikes to New York Telephone Company. Levine is a representative of the United Auto Workers Union. At a recent meeting of the Prairie Village, Kan. — Mr. Joseph Sutton reports: "My doctor suggested suppositories. I chose Preparation H suppositories. On a physical check-up my doctor noted how effectively it works." (Note: Doctors' tests have proved Preparation H actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by inflammation. It's so effective that in many cases, the first applications give prompt, temporary relief from pain and itching in such tissues. There's no other formula like doctor-tested Preparation H.)

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 5, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Despite a booming economy and a more stable dollar, the stock market is tumbling. The biggest reason, among many, is that the small investors have lost faith in Wall Street.

This has stirred the flamboyant financial, Ross Perot, to the rescue. He is preparing to launch a million-dollar campaign to save Wall Street.

"Mom and pop aren't coming to Wall Street any more," Perot told us during a visit to our offices. "So, I'm going to bring Wall Street to them."

Perot hopes to accomplish this with a massive media campaign that will include homilies on the do's and don'ts of playing the stock market. He has bypassed

Madison Avenue and authored the forthcoming newspaper appeals himself.

He hopes his campaign will persuade "the little guy" to invest in duPont Glore Forgan, the prestigious securities firm that nearly fell apart two years ago. Perot stepped in and rebuilt duPont with loans totalling nearly $80 million. He now exercises so much control that he personally hires each new member of the 2,500-man firm.

The bantam-weight billionaire — promising "straight talk and no bull" — will stress conservative buying on Wall Street. "This is no gimmick," he swears. "The little guy is our institution. He has been scared away from Wall Street because it has forgotten how to protect the original money invested. We're going to change that. Wall Street won't ever be the same again."

Footnote: Meanwhile, Perot is locked in a fierce competitive battle behind the scenes with IBM to land a huge social services computer contract in New York State. Perot's computer firm, Electronic Data Systems, apparently was in trouble in the early bidding last month. So Perot made a quiet trip to New York City where he met with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and the state's social welfare chief, Abe Levine. As a result, some 10 other firms, which didn't meet with Rockefeller, were eliminated from the bidding. Now Perot has 60 days to come up with a proposal better than either IBM or Touche Ross, which are also included in the final bidding. At stake is the biggest contract ever awarded by a state to computerize welfare and Medicaid.

Washington Whirl

Changing Causes — Antiwar activists have been looking for a new cause since the Vietnam cease-fire was signed. Many are switching to the antipoverty crusade. Already, antiwar leaders are trying to rally their followers to demonstrate against the budget cuts in the antipoverty programs. They're talking about a "summer of discontent" this year and promising to fill the jails to dramatize the plight of the poor.

Economy for Others — President Nixon's new defense chief, Elliot Richardson, has a reputation as a great economist. He has vowed sternly to enforce the President's economy edicts at the Pentagon. But Richardson is less solicitous of the taxpayers' money when it comes to satisfying his own tastes. For example, he didn't like the color of his black Pentagon limousine. So he ordered the car painted blue at a cost to the taxpayers of $480.

Wiretap Discovered — A wiretap discovered at the Virginia home of an Agriculture official, Charles Davenport, has triggered an intensive FBI investigation. Agents have already arrested one man, Jeris Bragan, for his alleged involvement in planting the device. Other arrests are expected.

Helicopter Investigation? — We recently reported that hundreds of military helicopters, many of them perfectly airworthy, were being consigned to the scrap heap while police forces around the country were paying tens of thousands of dollars more than necessary for brand new choppers. The Federal Aviation Administration, we charged, was playing bureaucratic games with local police to force them to buy new aircraft. Our story has stirred Rep. Bob Leggett, D-Calif., into demanding a congressional investigation. In a private letter to House Commerce Chairman Harley Staggers, Leggett has written: "A potential rip-off of domestic aviation is resulting from the FAA's restrictive actions."

Correction — We reported the other day that Mrs. Pat Schroeder, the young housewife from Colorado, was the only woman serving on the House Armed Services Committee. We apologize to Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., the committee's only grandmother, whom we overlooked.

Postal Crackdown — Postal authorities are cracking down on employees who don't like to work overtime. E. H. Rapee, who's in charge of the Washington City Post Office, has issued stern instructions to all his directors to double check medical excuses from employees who seek to be excused from mandatory overtime. "Employees submitting medical certificates for excuse from overtime are to be instructed to contact the Medical Unit for appointment so that evaluation of their condition may be made," writes Rapee, adding sternly: "This memorandum is not to be reproduced." We tried to contact Rapee about the memo, but a spokesman explained he was "out sick."

Exporting Forests

It is difficult to understand the plea of the big lumber companies to open up our national forests because of the shortage of logs and the high price of lumber, when they have exported (1970 for instance) almost 14 per cent of our total annual harvest of wood suitable for lumber production. Eight billion feet go each year to Japan. We need this timber desperately here for homes and repairs, and at lower prices.

Smaller mills, in our formerly timbered lands, have been forced to close, due to overcutting which has been allowed in the past, so that forest supplies have grown meager. "Cutting is expanding at such a rate that it threatens to destroy our forests entirely in the near future. Industry pressures to increase this rate stem in part from the large amount of wood exported each year to Japan," according to Gordon Robinson, forestry consultant.

Robinson believes that if this wood were sold instead to domestic manufacturers, the growing crunch on our remaining forest resources, and the violation of the watersheds they hold for us, would be eased considerably. Without our forests, we could become one vast dustbowl, and our lives would be drastically changed and synthetic.

While it is, of course, important to maintain our balance of trade, a ban on exports would help, not hurt, sales to Japan of more costly manufactured lumber and plywood. Japan would not bypass us by buying logs from Canada, since our North American neighbor is protecting her forests by stringent laws against exportation of timber. We should have similar enforced statutes, and further insist that both public (as required by law) and private forests use sustained-yield and multiple-use forestry.

OEO Funds Ill-Used

The dispersal of the Office of Economic Opportunity has created a legal test of whether President Nixon can impound federal funds without the consent of Congress. Lawsuits have been started in Washington, Chicago, Boston, Louisville and elsewhere challenging the right of the President to disperse OEO, dismiss most of its employees and transfer what duties are preserved to another government agency.

Before we waste too many tears about the fate of OEO, it is wise to consider what Howard Phillips, the 32-year-old acting director found when he took over January 31. He noted that a self-serving report of the achievement of the anti-poverty Community Action Program failed to mention its biggest fault. This is that among the 900 existing CAP agencies, outlays for payroll and administrative costs commonly run to 85 per cent of allotted funds. And that left very little for the needy, which they were to serve.

Lawyers of OEO say that Phillips is serving illegally because, as Senator William Proxmire alleged with regard to L. Patrick Gray, acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, no man can run legally more than 30 days as acting director of an office requiring Senate confirmation. Proxmire's authority is a ruling of the Controller General on the 30-day status.

Such a ruling does not have the force of law.

Violations of civil service or union job rules would not deter the dismemberment of OEO, either, though the suits are being brought in the names of the National Council of OEO unions, as well as a local of the American Federation of Government Employees, representing OEO headquarters workers.

However, the suits will lean more heavily on the separation of powers dispute, specifically that Congress "directed" that the agency continue into 1975; also, that the President failed to submit his dispersal plan to Congress for prior approval as provided by the Reorganization Act of 1949.

None of this weighs against the waste of bureaucratic outlays and little done for the poor.

YOUNG POWs ABANDONED—When our troops pulled out of Asian outposts in these last three wars, many of them deserted their sons and daughters— young prisoners of war, born and left in Asia. They are despised for their blue eyes, fair hair, or round-eyes and black skins, and are forced to beg or steal to live. Pearl Buck, the noted writer, has made them her concern and is starting school-orphanages for them. They should be everyone's concern.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The revolution transforming power realities inside the House of Representatives, faster than the outside world imagines, poses a threat that coming battles over tax reform and foreign trade will become orgies of legislative excess.

The do-gooding reforms adopted by the House Democratic caucus in fact transfer root power from conservative-oriented House committee grandees — particularly Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the Ways and Means chairman — to the liberal-dominated caucus. Expert at sensing the climate on Capitol Hill, Mills has not fought these reforms but embraced them—hinting to friends he might just let the House run wild and see how it likes it.

But the White House and its conservative allies on Capitol Hill are not so nonchalant. If Mills is cut down as a restraining force, they fear a tax bill gutted by revenue-losing gimmicks and a trade bill festooned with protectionist baubles. They doubt House Democratic leaders can check the caucus.

The goal of the present revolution, of course, is not a tax-trade Bacchanalia but an end to the feudal system of power divided among committee chairmen, instead concentrating it with Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and the elected party leaders.

From the beginning, Mills has been a principal target. Liberal reformers have always grumbled about his committee's awesome jurisdiction (taxes, tariffs, Social Security, welfare) and unique authority (power to send bills to the House floor under a "closed" rule barring amendments). Albert's canny adviser, Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri, is a longtime critic of Mills. Most important, Albert was miffed last November when some Mills allies tested the water for a possible Mills speakership.

The result has been an amazingly swift assault on Mills' prerogatives. While Mills was nursing a back ailment in Kennett, Ark., last week, the Democratic caucus approved a major weakening of the closed rule. In effect, it provides that a simple majority vote of the caucus could open up previous inviolate trade and tax bills to multiple amendment.

Albert, majority leader

Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill of Massachusetts and Bolling feel they can prevent excesses in the caucus. But nobody can be sure, and therein lies the basic question of the House revolution: does Speaker Albert control the caucus or does the caucus control Speaker Albert?

Nixon aides spin nightmarish tales of what might transpire under a liberal-controlled caucus, spurred on by Nader's Raiders and Common Cause, defying the leadership. Worse yet, they fear massive tax cuts, Social Security boosts and high tariffs pouring from a runaway caucus.

Whether controllable or not, it is probably that the caucus will be making major legislative decisions. But unlike many Ways and Means members, Mills does not seem apprehensive. He actually approved last week's momentous changes in advance.

That's because Mills is no zealot flinging himself to death against an angry caucus majority. Still a figure of unmatched prestige in the House, he believes he can talk the caucus out of wholesale amendments. Or perhaps, he hints privately, he might not even try. The result of a tax or trade bill open to amendment might teach the House a lesson.

But the cost of such a lesson would be too high for the White House, which recalls that the last trade bill considered under open amendment—the infamous Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act of 1930—was the forerunner of depression and world war. In the delicate international situation of 1973, President Nixon's aides envision the specter of lower taxes and higher tariffs emerging from a new King Caucus.

Most Democratic Congressmen view this as ridiculously alarmist. Even if this is so, assault on Mills won't soon end. He is now trying to block a caucus-approved House rule intended to open his committee's sessions to the public — and hordes of lobbyists. A select committee headed by Bolling might divide the vast Ways and Means jurisdiction.

For 17 years, Mills has been the bulwark against unrestrained tax and tariff relief. Even his undisputed guide and ability to adjust to changing tides may be insufficient to preserve that role today if King Caucus is restored to his dictatorial old throne.

Hints on a Changing World

DEAR P.O.W.: Since you've been away, here are some of the things that happened. Remember the Beatles? They chirped out. We invented something called the miniskirt; it's a long blouse. Prices of almost everything are about 50 per cent higher. You'll find out about pantyhose, LBJ died. So did Truman. Americans have been on the moon several times. A religious war is in full flame in Ireland. For several years, this nation was plagued with race riots and draft riots.

Many of our children are on drugs. Martin Luther King was shot. Remember the Smothers Brothers? Zapped. Your road to freedom led through the Philippines. We gave those people independence; they live under a dictator.

The U.S. has 41 nuclear submarines which fire missiles from under the sea. Unemployment is about 5 per cent. Women, old and young, wear pants. Heart transplants prolong life a year or two.

Dermatologists graft hair from the back of the neck onto bald heads. Abortions are legal. So are stag movies. The U.S. is producing more and better products, but has prided itself out of the export market.

The taxpayers are going to rebuild your prison. Many big ocean liners are in mothballs. Emerging African nations have warred against each other more mercilessly than the European powers ever did. Jackie Gleason quit the airways for the fairways.

A pro football team called the Miami Dolphins broke all records beating everyone in sight. A "conscientious objector" named Cassius Clay is now making money as Muhammad Ali. Gov. George Wallace was shot. Ike passed on. So did Judy Garland. Ho Chi Minh. Sonja Henie. Maurice Chevalier. Rocky Marciano. Bishop Pike. Clint Murchison. Drew Pearson. Winchell. Pegler. Bugs Baer. Robert Taylor. Marie Wilson and many others you remember.

Men have changed; they wear loud shirts, broad ties, go to beauticians to get their hair coiffed and contemplate their navels. Cigarettes are now a hazard to your health, so we're smoking more. Women are tired of being "sex objects" so they stopped wearing bras and wear hip-huggers.

The U.S. is trying to stop pollution of air, water and natural resources. "Life" magazine expired. America's 23,000,000 blacks have achieved equality (long overdue), but now whites want it too. You are nothing unless you can find something to protest.

Your President is a hard-working man. Good pitchers earn $125,000 a season. Tinkling bells and skinheads denote Krishna groups. Remember those four-letter words and the soap-on-the-tongue? They're now used in conversation as punctuation. Begin every sentence you utter with the word "Man," even when you're addressing a woman.

One of our biggest books since you've been away is "Portnoy's Complaint," a study in masturbation. The biggest play was "Hair," no one has divined the plot. The best movie was "The Godfather" about a gentle chiseler who had pals garroted in automobiles.

Don't smile hello to a stranger; he'll act surly. Give your wife (or mother) a lot of love for enduring the lonely years "with honor." Tracks are rusty; some railroads are bankrupt. Don't be frightened when you're frisked at an airport. It's routine.

Children remain the same: still need strong doses of love and discipline. Science is still looking for a quick cure for cancer. The big thing in Wall St. is Mutual Funds. While you were away, America became overeducated; the inmates are trying to run the asylum.

The U.N. didn't stop your war nor spring you. Bell bottoms are back. The losers in World War II Germany and Japan — are the richest. Sophisticated motion pictures have no plots. We're building a billion dollar aircraft carrier.

Smart young men wear beards and long matted hair. Lib girls will share a bed if you swear you won't fall in love with them. The death penalty is now "cruel and unusual punishment." If you're on narcotics, try an elementary schoolyard at recess.

In spite of all our mistakes, all we cared about in that war was your safe return. Never have so many loved so few so long...

Plane Overshoots Runway, 23 Upstaters Unhurt

MIAMI (UPI) — Twenty-three persons from upstate New York escaped injury Friday night, when their chartered plane overshoot a runway while landing on San Salvador Island in the Bahamas, the Coast Guard said Saturday.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the pilot, J. Wilhelm of Dania, Fla., was believed the only person injured in the accident. He was flown here for treatment of a broken leg.

Those aboard the DC3 prop plane, chartered from Southeast Airlines of Miami, were students and faculty of the College Center of the Finger Lakes in Corning, N.Y.

A spokesman at the center said no one but the pilot was injured. He said the plane skidded off the runway and came to rest on a reef in five feet of water.

The students and faculty were involved in an environmental studies program begun a year ago at the invitation of the Bahamian government, the spokesman said. He said the project involves use of a 50-foot research vessel for studies of marine life, culture and the land which makes up the 12 by 7 mile island.

This year's activity covers a five-month period, January through May, with participants being rotated each month. The plane was ferrying in the March group and was to have returned with the previous month's group. The spokesman said the center said arrangements were being made for another aircraft to pick up the students and faculty who worked on the project during February.

The College Center of the Finger Lakes is a consortium made up of Alfred, Cazenovia, Elmira and Hartwick Colleges.

St. Augustine's Set to Open In September

HIGHLAND — Saint Augustine School will open September 1973, according to the Rev. Vincent A. Wallace, pastor of Saint Augustine Church, Highland, with a full teaching staff and the addition of a kindergarten.

Sister Assunta, M.S.C., will remain as a teacher of grade 3.

Saint Augustine School is open to children of all faiths. Religion classes will be conducted under the direction of the resident sisters, who will remain in the community. Classes in religion will be optional for non-Catholics.

Registration classes will be held for all grades the week of March 12. Those interested should contact Sister Julia, M.S.C., the school's principal.

NAPANOCH PLAY — Professor Aaron Bindman (L) chairman of the sociology department of the State University College, New Paltz, is greeted by Eastern Correctional Facility Deputy Superintendent Robert E. McClay and Gordon Dillahun, associate dean of students at New Paltz looks on. The New Paltz delegation attended a play directed by Rodney Douglas of the State University College. The stage production was written, developed and performed by the residents at Eastern Correctional Facility as part of the Theater Arts Class, one of the programs now operating at the Napanoch facility.

Crews Demolish Building, Seek Missing Men

BAILEY'S CROSSROADS, Fairfax County officials said and has slabs of concrete dangling above the ground, held by twisted sections of steel reinforcing rods. Officials said those pieces of concrete would be removed before rescue workers could extend their search for the missing.

VA. (AP) — Wrecking crews Sunday demolished a 24-story section of a two-tower apartment building to aid the search for construction workers missing since the partial collapse of the structure in which five men were killed.

The section which remains standing also is 24 stories high

Two Arrested On Charges, In Court Today

KINGSTON — The alleged theft of $35 from a cash register at Plaza Mobil Gas Station, 272 Clinton Avenue, Sunday evening resulted in the arrest of a Kingston man and a woman on multiple charges.

According to police, Preston Coddington, 22, of 87 Pearl Street, entered the gas station and allegedly took $35 from the cash register while the attendant's back was turned.

Detectives arrested Coddington later Sunday night at an apartment at 87 Pearl Street on a charge of petit larceny.

While investigating at the apartment, detectives allegedly found a quantity of heroin, and Coddington and Judy Peterson, 24, of RD 1, Box 386, Kingston, who was also at the apartment, were arrested on charges of criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the sixth degree, possession of a hypodermic syringe, and loitering in the first degree.

Coddington and the woman were scheduled to appear in City Court today.

Teachers Sign In Amsterdam; Strike Is Over

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (UPI) — A contract settlement was reached today between the striking Amsterdam Teachers Association and the Greater Amsterdam school board, a spokesman for the state's Public Employment Relations Board announced.

The PERB spokesman said the union immediately began notifying the teachers to report for classes at the city's 12 schools, which serve 5,092 pupils.

Details of the pact were withheld until they could be put in writing.

The agreement came after a nearly 13-hour session with mediators. It also came as the ATA was scheduled to answer a State Supreme Court order to show cause why an injunction against the strike should not be made permanent.

The ATA, which claims about 300 members, went on strike last Wednesday after a marathon bargaining session failed to produce a settlement. The city's teachers had been without a contract since last July 1.

Promoter Held In Macing of Knivel Fans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thrill-seeking motorcycle fans claiming stunts by daredevil Evel Knivel were too dull at a motorcycle show Saturday night got some excitement after all when the promoter of the show maced them during a dispute over a refund for tickets, police said.

The promoter, Ken Brown, 30, was arrested on harassment and Mace possession charges, and nine persons were treated at the first aid station of Nassau County Coliseum at East Meadow, N.Y.

About 75 persons among the audience of 2,700, all of whom paid $6 each to see the show, confronted Brown afterwards, told him the stunts weren't good enough and demanded their money back.

As the argument grew more heated, Brown allegedly pulled out a can of Mace and began spraying the group.

Police said two other men, James M. Draper, 20, of Wichita, Kan., and Seth Westring, 35, of Niles, Ill., both connected with the show, also were charged with possession of Mace.

Credit Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster Credit Management Association will be held Tuesday March 13, at the Sawyerkill Restaurant, starting at 7 p.m. Roland A. Augustine, of Augustine Insurance Agency, will speak on no-fault insurance.

Joiners

Rondout Lodge 343, F&AM will hold its regular meeting tonight 7:30, in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Ave. at which time the first degree will be conferred.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank those friends and neighbors living on Mt. View Avenue, Louis Avenue and Morris Street, who donated to the Multiple Sclerosis Society in memory of my wife Carol.

Link Picked the Right Time

By IRA FUSFELD

STONE RIDGE

Coleman Link stood in front of his locker in Senate Gym Saturday night, a can of liquid refreshment in one hand, a smile on his face, and sweat covering his body.

He stood surveying the scene before him: victorious Ulster basketball players celebrating their second straight Region XV title. When he spoke, one eye was always on his teammates. He watched as Henry Nixon, Jackie Knowles and Val Williams clowned for the photographers. He saw like Chestnut sit on the training table with a serious look of satisfaction on his face. He saw the well-wishers slap palms with everyone in sight. Still, rings in his ears were the cheers of nearly 3000 delirious fans. It was a happy time.

For the moment, he'd been partially isolated from his fellow Senators so that he could describe his big contribution to Ulster's 87-71 win over Farmingdale and those of the rest of the tournament, thus earning him the Most Valuable Player award, breaking two scoring records in the process. But he was only partially isolated. . . of 66 shots making 40 (60.6 per cent).

In the last two alone, he connected on 33 of 52 (63.5 per cent). When he spoke in that sort of high pitched voice, . . . the one you just don't expect to come out of a man his size, Coleman said, "I do believe I have played better ballgames, but you know, these came at the right time."

How come they did come at up to my peak, but I've been practicing on that."

Did Link play that well? No, he was incredible. For three night's work, Coleman scored 84 points (the old tournament record was 77 set in 1969 by Bernie Brown of New York City). 70 of those markers in the final two games, and 39 in the middle game (Dennis McIntyre of Nassau owned the previous standard, 36 in 1970 against Ulster). There was more, though. The Big Link led everyone in rebounds with 50. And in the three games regional and then in the two games in Kansas. "I don't know what it was," Link smiled. "I just don't know."

Later, however when asked about what he thought the best part of his game was, something came to him. "The last part of the season I had more concentration on what I was doing," he explained. "Like before, I don't know what it was, I was kind of lackadaisical I wasn't getting up to my peak, but I've been practicing on that."

Did he ever!

Perry remembers well the first time he saw Link:

"I saw him play ball in the summer leagues in the Ossining area and I was impressed with his shooting. . . with his touch. I followed up on him but he had already had applications in at Dutchess and Westchester when Ronnie Lindsay (former UCCC player) told me that he'd be interested in Ulster, so I pursued it, talked him into coming to Ulster. I lined him up with the Walt Frazier camp and from that point I followed him quite closely. I liked him so much, I wanted to make sure he came to Ulster. I didn't want to mess up and lose him, because if Westchester or Dutchess came up with him, well, they're in our Conference and I certainly didn't want that to happen. I wouldn't have minded losing him to someone out of the region, but I didn't want anyone in the region, or in particular someone in the conference to get him."

Had Mike known that Ulster was the only school Coleman really was interested in, he might not have been so worried about losing him.

"Well, I hadn't been planning to go to school. . . like I never graduated from high school. Then I took the high school equivalency and a couple of his old players played against me, and I guess they recommended me," Link said. "Ulster was the only school I wanted to go to."

So the happy union was consummated and it's remained happy through two highly successful seasons. No matter what happens Wednesday when Ulster plays the Region III champ for the rights to a berth in Kansas, and no matter what happens if Ulster does indeed go to Kansas, Mike Perry and Coleman Link will always think highly of each other.

"Coleman is a beautiful person," Perry reflected. "He's really super."

Lee Trevino who overcame a three-stroke deficit the previous week to win the Jackie Gleason Classic, was never a serious factor in the Citrus although his 10-under-par 278 was a stroke lower than the score that earned him $52,000 the previous week.

Bruce Crampton, the leading money winner on the tour, raised his earnings for the year past the $77,000 mark with a $1,875 check for shooting 279.

The three ex-POWs present at the Citrus Sunday were Capt. Tom Browning and Maj. Glendon Perkins of Orlando and Col. Richard Keirn of Tampa. Perkins surprised Allin at the end of the tournament by asking for his autograph.

Bob Love had 25 points and Chet Walker 24 for the Bulls while Neal Walk led Phoenix with 30.

Bob Lanier scored 31 points as the Pistons downed the Trail Blazers. Detroit trailed by three points at the half but Lanier and Dave Bing, who finished with 21 points, helped pull the Pistons ahead. Geoff Petrie and Lloyd Neal had 24 points each for Portland.

Dave Cowens scored eight of his 23 points in the third period to help the Celtics pull away from Buffalo. Paul Silas had 26 points for Boston, which just about wrapped up the Eastern Division title.

Jim King, who entered the game with three minutes left in overtime, stole the ball and scored his only two points of the game to give the Bulls a triumph over Phoenix. King stole the ball from Clem Haskins and drove for a layup with 14 seconds left. Dick Van Arsdale's last second shot for Phoenix fell short.

McNally, Sutton Sign Pact

By United Press International
Dave McNally, struggling off one of his worst major league seasons, and Don Sutton, coming off one of his best, reduced the number of baseball's unsigned high-priced pitchers by two Sunday as both agreed to 1973 terms after brief holdouts.

McNally, long the ace of the Baltimore Orioles rich mound staff, took an estimated $7,000 salary cut to $98,000 after posting a disappointing 13-17 record last year. McNally had won 20 or more games in each of his previous four campaigns before running into arm trouble in '72.

Sutton, who emerged as the ace of the Dodgers staff with 19 victories last year, received a hefty increase to $87,500 and will join the team Tuesday. Sutton's 19-win season was his best ever and the Dodgers are hoping that he can combine with newly-acquired Andy Messersmith to give the club the best 1-2 punch of righthanded pitching in the National League this season.

While Sutton and McNally were ending holdouts, quite a few other big name hurlers are still at large. Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley has been unable to corral two of his starting pitchers—Vida Blue and Ken Holtzman. Holtzman is believed to be about $3,500 apart with Finley, while Blue is not even reachable.

Blue, who hurt his chances for a good season last year when he held out all through spring training, is still attracting offers from other clubs despite a subpar 6-10 '72 log.

Milwaukee Brewer general manager Jim Wilson is reportedly dangle first baseman George Scott, who played for A's manager Dick Williams at Boston, as trade bait for Blue. The A's, it may be remembered, traded last year's first baseman, Mike Epstein to the Texas Rangers during the off-season for reliever Horatio Pina.

The Yankees, meanwhile, while admittedly getting close to signing slugger outfielder Bobby Murcer, have three of their front line pitchers still out of the fold. Holding out are starters Fritz Peterson and Steve Kline and ace reliever Sparky Lyle. The Yankees did, however, announce that newly-acquired Matty Alou's delayed arrival was because of visa difficulties in his native Dominican Republic.

Another celebrated holdout (though not a pitcher), Rusty Staub, appeared to be getting closer in his negotiations with the New York Mets. Staub is expected to come to terms with general manager Bob Scheffing Monday for approximately $330,000 over three years.

Not as close as Staub and Murcer were Pete Rose and the Reds, Dusty Baker and the Atlanta Braves, Alex Johnson and the Cleveland Indians and relief pitcher ace Mike Marshall and the Montreal Expos.

Stanford Coach Has the Solution

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Want to know how to beat UCLA in basketball? Coach Howie Dallmar of Stanford has an easier solution than locking the Bruins in their dressing room.

"In order to beat UCLA, you must control the tempo of the game," says Dallmar. "You cannot take bad shots. Any team that can control the ball for 28 to 30 minutes has a chance to win. That means you don't have to spend all your time defending the Bruins."

Aspirants for a national basketball championship, please take note: You'd be listening to a man whose team had almost beaten mighty UCLA.

The Bruins who have won the NCAA title six straight years and will be making another appearance as a result of winning the Pacific-8 title, had some scary moments before scoring their 70th consecutive victory, a 51-45 spindling over Stanford Saturday night.

Stanford had a 25-18 lead at the half by "controlling" the game with stalling tactics. But the Bruins, who could only manage seven of 23 field goal attempts in the first half, got their attack untracked behind Bill Walton in the second half.

The lanky redhead scored 15 of his 23 points in the last half, helping the amazing Bruins add to their record winning streak. Top-ranked UCLA, which had clinched the Pacific-8 championship Friday night with a victory over California, was the first of the conference champions crowned over the weekend.

Eight teams won titles the past weekend and moved into the NCAA playoffs. The national championship will be settled in St. Louis on March 26 after two weeks of regional competition.

Along with UCLA, the latest title-winners were Penn in the Ivy League, Kansas State in the Big Eight, Furman in the Southern Conference, St. Joseph's, Pa., in the Middle Atlantic Conference, Austin Peay in the Ohio Valley Conference, Arizona State in the Western Athletic Conference and the University of San Francisco in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Penn won its fourth straight Ivy crown with a 74-46 victory over Dartmouth; Kansas State topped Nebraska 97-70, grabbing the Big Eight for the second year in a row; Furman nailed down the Southern Conference title, beating favored Davidson 99-81 in the league playoffs; St. Joseph's stopped Temple 70-60 for the MAC crown; Austin Peay took the OVC with a 75-73 decision over Murray; Arizona State won the WAC with an 89-87 decision over Colorado State, and San Francisco won the WCA C with a 96-71 breeze over Pepperdine. Along with No. 1 UCLA and No. 3 Minnesota, seven other Top Ten teams saw action over the weekend. Second-ranked North Carolina State crushed Wake Forest 100-77; No. 4 Long Beach tripped No. 5 Marquette 76-66; No. 6 Providence defeated No. 17 St. John's 93-90; seventh-ranked North Carolina nipped Duke 72-70; ninth-ranked Maryland beat Virginia 92-81, and St. Louis University turned back No. 10 Memphis State 70-56.

Craig Wilson - 2 State Titles

GENESEO
New Paltz State swimmers fared poorly in the team standings of the State University of New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC) Championships over the weekend, but there was no stopping the Hawks' sensational Craig Wilson.

Wilson, undefeated in dual competition in the 1972-73 season, captured two state titles — tying one record and setting another — and qualified for the NCAA Nationals in Detroit with a fast second place in the 200-yard individual medley event. The speedy Hawk tied his own school varsity record with a 50.14-second clocking in the 100-yard freestyler.

He then zipped to a flashy 1:50.74 standard in the 200-yard freestyle, eclipsing the old mark of 1:51.1. But it was Wilson's 2:05.21 in the 200 individual medley that earned him a trip to Wayne State in Detroit, Michigan for the Nationals. The dates are March 15-16-17.

"It was another fantastic performance by Craig," said Coach Art Stockin of New Paltz. "He just seems to get better every time he goes out. I think he has an excellent chance to make a showing in the Nationals." The only other Hawk to make any showing at all was diver

Terry Terbush, who placed seventh in the one-meter event and 11th in the 3-meter competition. The powerful Buffalo State squad completely dominated the eleventh annual championships with several first places and an overall total of 521. Oneonta was a distant runnerup with 335 points. New Paltz's 66 points were good for ninth place. Order of finish:

Buffalo 521, Oneonta 335, Geneseo 208, Oswego 174, Brockport 171, Potsdam 124, Fredonia 108, Plattsburgh 95, New Paltz 66, Albany 65, Cortland 61.

Jacques, Jacques... Please Come Back!

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jacques, Jacques, come back!
Unfortunately for the Toronto Maple Leafs, ex-teammate Jacques Plante was in New England Sunday, where he had just debuted brilliantly with his new teammates, the Boston Bruins, by shutting out the Chicago Black Hawks 4-0.

That left Toronto goalies Ron Low and Gordon McRae to fend for themselves, but the rookie goaltenders did little fending—tending, for that matter—as the Philadelphia Flyers planted 10 goals past them in a 10-0 knockout.

Elsewhere, Montreal shaded Buffalo 4-2, Vancouver stunned the New York Rangers 4-3, Detroit peppered the New York Islanders 5-1, Minnesota defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 and Atlanta nipped California 3-2. In the World Hockey Association, it was Philadelphia 4, New York 2; Winnipeg 2, Los Angeles 1; Ottawa 6, Chicago 4; Minnesota 4, New England 2; Quebec 6, Houston 3.

The defending Stanley Cup champion Bruins, struggling along in third place in the East Division and desperate for some solid netminding, obtained Plante late Saturday night from Toronto. It paid off immediately when the 44-year-old veteran, who has spent almost two decades stopping NHL rubber, turned aside 27 Chicago shots. When the final horn sounded, he raised his arms skyward in his traditional victory sign. "They won't all be like this," he said after recording his 81st career shutout in the nationally televised contest with the help of two goals by Phil Esposito. Plante admitted he was excited about moving from the also-ran Maple Leafs to the playoff-bound Bruins. "I got into Boston at four this morning and got to bed at five," he said. "I woke up at six and then again at seven. Just like a kid... I couldn't sleep." In the World Hockey Association, the Winnipeg Jets edged the Los Angeles Sharks 2-1 for their eighth straight win over the Sharks this season. In other WHA action, Ottawa beat Chicago 6-4, Minnesota stopped New England 4-2, Philadelphia edged New York 4-2 and Quebec beat Houston 6-3.

Rockland Matmen Dominate

VALLEY CENTRAL
While Rockland County wrestlers dominated the Section Nine championships here over the weekend, it was a dark day for the UCLAL. Ontario High School fielded enough depth to lead the Ulster schools with a ninth place finish, but beyond that the southern counties reigned supreme.

"It used to be this way seven or eight years ago," commented Rondout Valley coach Larry Skalla. "Orange County, and Ulster, were making inroads into the wrestling, but this time the Rockland schools were more ready."

Skalla had two entrants in the tournament, lightweight Tom Barry and Dave DuBois in 167. Both compiled excellent records in the UCLAL this season, but suffered first round elimination to their weight classes' respective champions. OCS, the UCLAL champion, was well behind first place Suffer in total points, 87 to 29, but the ninth place among the 28 schools.

competing schools was a positive accomplishment for the Indians. Coach Joe Friedel remarked, "Ninth out of 28—I'd have to say I'm pretty happy with that."

Ontario advanced four grapplers to the semi-finals, and two of them, Charles DeBellis and Ken St. John, won consolation bouts for third places. The other semi-finalists for the Indians were 98-pounder Scott Hunter and Chris St. John in 119.

The UCLAL boasted one finalist in Sunday's matches. In the unlimbied class New Paltz Charles Kopsick lost a 15-2 decision to St. John of Ontario.

Regina Coeli Cagers End Tyros' Win Streak at 15

KINGSTON
A powerful Regina Coeli team from Hyde Park grabbed an 8-2 first quarter lead and went on to defeat St. Mary's of Kingston 38-24 for the Tyro Division title in the St. Mary's-St. Joseph's Invitational CYO tourney.

(Varsity Division)
St. Mary's WF (33) — Kyle 2, Blake 5, Frei 8, Brower 8, Brower 2, Dettulo 9, Wise 1, Crist 2, Travis 4.

The loss ended St. Mary's 15-game winning streak. Joe Molloy led the Coeli squad with 10 points and Jim O'Connor added eight. High for St. Mary's were Mark Berardi with 9 and Bill Reynolds with seven.

(Jayvee Finals)
St. Catherine (44) — Kayser 10, Emmert 18, Boro 4, Hundgen 8, Dobbo 4.

Regina Coeli also topped St. Catherine Blauvelt for the Jayvee championship, 47-44. St. John's of Mahopac edged St. Catherine Blauvelt 36-25 for the Saml Fry title and St. James of Carmel captured Varsity honors with a 59-33 romp over St. Mary's of Wappingers.

(Tyro Finals)
Regina Coeli (38) — Rae 5, Keating 4, Devine 5, O'Connor 8, Molloy 10, Tenbrock 2, Stelmach 2, Econom 2.

Jeff Sosta of Regina Coeli's Jayvee team led all scorers with 22 points. Danny Emmert hit 18 for Blauvelt. In the Varsity finals, John Soherer and Dan Gaughran scored 19 apiece for St. James.

(Small Fry Finals)
St. Catherine (25) — Hurley 6, Boro 6, Emmert 4, Henry 7, McCusker 2.

Baker Races Dodge Car To Hickory Nascar Win

HICKORY, N.C. (UPI) — Buddy Baker of Charlotte averaged 69.966 miles per hour in a 1973 Dodge Sunday to win the Hickory 276 NASCAR Grand National East stock car race.

Taylorville fourth in a Ford and Charlie Blanton of Gaffney, S.C., fifth in a Chevrolet Camaro.

Baker swapped the lead four times with Chevrolet driver Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., before moving out front for good on the 151st lap.

Sixth was Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., in a Chevrolet, followed by Neil Castles of Charlotte in a Dodge, Buck Baker of Charlotte in a Pontiac, Wayne Andrews of Asheboro in a Ford and Tiny Lund of Cross, S.C., in a Chevrolet.

Allison had a three-second advantage when both drivers pitted following a caution flag posted at the 143-lap mark when Richard Brown of Claremont lost a fender on his Chevrolet.

Richie Panch, son of former NASCAR driver Marvin Panch, made his grand national debut in the race and finished 11th in a Mercury.

Vic Parsons of Skyland finished third in a Ford on the 3.63 mile Hickory Speedway Track, with Harry Gant of Baker, who collected $1,000 for the victory, grabbed the pole position in qualifying for the race, the first Grand National East event of the season.

Slalom First For Overland

BEAR VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Terje Overland of Rjukan, Norway, defeated reigning champion Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., in the slalom Sunday to win the event at the Benson & Hedges Grand Prix of professional ski racing.

Overland's victory was worth $2,500 but Sabich held onto second place in the overall standings on the pro circuit by winning $1,500 and 20 points. He had hoped to score a 25 point victory to tie leader Jean Claude Killy of France.

Killy fell while competing against Perry Thompson of Mammoth Mountain, Calif., in a race for third place. He wound up in a tie for fifth, worth $500 and stayed ahead of Sabich, 231 to 236 points and $21,600 to $18,825 in the money race.

Three events remain on the schedule, starting next week at Park City, Utah, with the overall winner to receive an additional $40,000. Thompson, who is only 21, won $1,200 but stands seventh in the overall standings with $10,750 and 137 points.

Terje Lassen-Urdahl of Oslo, Norway, beat Bert Recher of Austria to land fourth place money of $1,000. He's 10th on the overall list with 96 points and $8,325.

Tying for fifth here with Killy were Alain Penz of France, Recher and Eric Sturm of Austria.

BEAR VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Standings in the Professional ski racing Grand Prix after the Bear Valley event Sunday:

1. Jean Claude Killy, France, 241, $21,600
2. S. Sabich, Kyburz, Calif., 236, $18,825
3. Zsolt Szeder, Austria, 215, $16,775
4. Hugo Nindl, Hunter Mountain, N.Y., 166, $13,800

Coordinated VD Battle Discussed

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ
Some 200 educators and public health officials from the Mid-Hudson region gathered at the State University College at New Paltz Saturday to map plans for a coordinated battle against the venereal disease epidemic.

And in the process, they tackled a bitterly contested question: do public schools have either the right or responsibility to assume the sex and health education of children.

The assumption from the beginning was that the education profession is the logical entity to direct its vast resources in a campaign against the VD plague. But it was also emphasized that venereal disease is a community problem, and any possible solutions will be essentially ineffective without commitments from parents, the clergy, the medical profession and business and industry as well.

Saturday's conference, sponsored by the Office for Educational Planning of the Mid-Hudson Regional Compact in New Paltz, featured Dr. Alan R. Hinman, assistant commissioner of the New York State Health Department and Dr. John S. Sinacore, special assistant for health and drug education to the State Education Commissioner.

Sinacore was especially emphatic that much of the responsibility for combating venereal disease rests with the local schools and their health educators. "We need to make sure that VD education is included in our health education programs," said Sinacore. "We have a social mandate of the first order."

Sinacore said that education can be one of the most effective tools in the campaign for venereal disease prevention, but added that education is "not being used as effectively as it can." Said Sinacore, "School administrators must see the need for schools to provide primary education in this area. It can prevent many, many problems in the first place."

But Sinacore did not suggest that the schools take up the fight alone. Instead, he called for a "complete community approach" to the venereal disease crises.

He suggested that each county maintain a health education coordinator — preferably connected with BOCES — to serve as a liaison between the schools and the community, and to coordinate the activities of all schools and community agencies.

Other speakers — including some students and school administrators — suggested that health education begin in the middle schools; that high schools establish mandatory courses for juniors and seniors on venereal disease; that a relaxed climate be established in the classrooms so students can best communicate their own thoughts and feelings.

When the general session ended Saturday morning, representatives from each of the four Mid-Hudson counties gathered to discuss programs and solutions for their own areas.

Part of the discussion centered on the general question of just how far schools can and should go in disseminating information on sex education (including abortion and birth control) before the wrath of some community members is unleashed.

Robert Robertaccio, superintendent of the Rondout Valley Central School District, admitted that many administrators have shied away from a frank approach to the health education problem to avoid a community controversy. It was suggested that the students, themselves, recommend and develop topics of study, and then work to convince their parents to accept the importance of complete health education, and urge that they educate themselves in the process.

Or, as Ellenville High School student Wendy Hecht said in a general message to parents: "If you really value the health of your children, you'll realize that we're individuals, not just possessions. And we don't want to get sick."

Five Families Are Homeless In Sullivan

LIBERTY, N.Y. (UPI)—Fire Sunday afternoon destroyed a store and made five families homeless in this Sullivan County community.

Police said the blaze, which apparently began in LeJac's interior decorating store and spread to five apartments on two upper floors, took five hours to extinguish and required the efforts of five departments.

Two firemen were taken to a hospital with smoke inhalation. One was released after treatment and the other was held overnight for observation. Police said the origin of the blaze, while under investigation, was not considered suspicious.

Smoke damage was reported to two adjoining structures, a bank and a tailor shop. All residents of the upstairs apartments got out safely.

Firemen responded from Liberty, Monticello, White Sulphur Springs, Livingston Manor and Neversink.

77 Are Granted Tenure

By JON POWERS

Seventy-three teachers and four administrators were granted tenure status at the recent meeting of the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated. The group is one of the largest ever to receive tenure at one time in the local district. William Turcotte, Associate Superintendent for Personnel, reported that many of the 73 teachers given tenure were among some 100 professional employees hired by the district in 1970. Those that received tenure remained in the school district for the required three-year period and were favorably reviewed during formal evaluation sessions. Turcotte noted that each professional employee was granted tenure in a specific area, and some have achieved tenure status in more than one area. The evaluation procedure for the teachers, said Turcotte, includes 12 formal review sessions over the three-year period. The administrators, as well, were also subject to review, although on a less formal basis than the teachers. Among the benefits that accompany tenure status are regulations by the State Department of Education that stipulate that tenured teachers cannot be summarily dismissed by a Board of Education. Turcotte noted that a school board can only "render" charges against a tenured teacher, with the State Education Department empowered to make a final ruling in the case. The four administrators granted tenure were John Ascarino, principal of the George Washington School; Charles Beckwith, secondary language supervisor; Carlton Bell, Dean of Boys at Kingston High School; and Bernard Farrell, principal of the Myron J. Michael Junior High School. The school board also approved revisions in a subdivision of the Article 55 policy adopted earlier that established rules and regulations for the maintenance of public order on school property. The regulations were mandated by the state, then rejected because exact specifications were not met. Twenty-one people representing a cross section of the school district and community prepared the regulations. They included Keith White, Maureen Sippel and Sharon Kelly (students); Mrs. Florence Gossett, Mrs. Bernice Segal and Robert Kurland (parents); Mrs. Barbara Kleckner, Vernon Outwater and Donald J. Sweeney (teachers); Dan Allen, Donald Anderson and Robert J. Corcoran (principals); Assistant District Attorney Ellen G. Donovan and John R. Donnaruma (community); Daniel J. Houser and Mrs. Mary Graves (civil service) and the five members of the board's Communications Committee: Mrs. Marianne D. Darrow, Joseph Feraca, H. Peter Hoffman, Thomas W. Reynolds Jr. and Ward D. Todd. The March meeting of the school board also included an- nouncement that five seniors at Kingston High School have been named finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program, and are now each eligible for one of 1,000 one-time national merit scholarships of $1,000, or for 2,000 renewable merit scholarships. Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann noted that such an achievement is an honor shared by less than one-half of one per cent of all the graduating high school seniors in the United States. The local finalists are Linda M. Johnson, Mary J. Marshall, George F. Moxham, Wendy J. Whitley and Sylvia K. Yhlen.

Sheriff Sub-Station Slated for Ellenville

ELLENVILLE — The Ulster County Sheriff's Department will establish a sub-station in Ellenville "within the next two or three weeks" to afford increased police protection for the towns of Wawarsing, Rochester, Shawangunk and Denning. According to Sheriff William B. Martin, who detailed the plan at Thursday's meeting of the Wawarsing Town Board, the sub-station will be established on a "temporary basis," as long as the need exists, and as long as the Sheriff's Department has adequate manpower to maintain the station. The sub-station will be located in the Town Hall. The Town of Wawarsing has agreed to provide the space and necessary office equipment without charge to the Sheriff's Department. Martin said that "an outbreak of vandalism" in the Town of Wawarsing in recent months prompted the Town Board to request the additional police coverage. "There's no question that a sub-station is needed in that area," said Martin. "We can do a much more effective job if we've got men right in the area at all times." Three deputies will man the area on a 24-hour basis. They'll use one marked patrol car. Martin pointed out that a sub-station was established in that area last summer, but was closed when the department found it didn't have enough manpower to staff the area on a full-time basis. The Town of Wawarsing is currently without a recognized constabulary, although coverage is provided by the State Police sub-station outside of Nanoch. The Village of Ellenville has its own police department. Thursday's meeting also included approval of the annexation of 23 acres of town land to the village of Ellenville. The application was made by David Rosenthal, representing Mappro Corp. The Town Board had no objections to the transfer of land, although the Village Board also has a say in the matter. The town board also opened bids on a three-quarter ton pickup truck and a four-wheel pickup truck with snowplow for the highway department. The bids were referred to the town engineer and superintendent of highways for study. The Wawarsing Environmental Conservation Commission announced it will hold its next recycling drive May 5.

Watson Bailey Junior High School, conducts the Middle School All County Band during the Ulster County Music Educators Association annual Band Festival, held Saturday at Ulster County Community College. ## Dance, Drama to Continue In Wake of Bard Fire

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON — Bard College will not cut back on its drama-dance program, despite the Feb. 25 fire that destroyed the campus theater. Temporary arrangements have been made to house classes and productions for the rest of the semester; a utilitarian building will be constructed and ready for use in September; and long-range plans for the college listed a new Performing Arts Center as priority item after completion of the addition to the Bard library, with construction scheduled for this summer. An overflow crowd of students, faculty and staff members attended a meeting called by Bard President Reamer Kline Monday night to hear the college's plans for meeting the needs of the drama-dance program and to discuss other current campus problems. Describing the fire as "a very great loss" to the college, President Kline thanked Vice President Robert J. Bruce and Richard Griffiths, director, Physical Plant, for their work in dealing with the emergency, and the entire campus community for its response to immediate problems caused by the fire. A former coachhouse on the Blithewood estate acquired by Bard in 1951, the wood-frame building had been rebuilt for theater use by Bard employees and students in 1954. The theater had a seating capacity of 147; the building also included a dance studio, a sewing and costume workroom, dressing rooms and shop facilities. Bruce has rescheduled all drama-dance classes and activities in other campus buildings. The new Studio Building, opened at the beginning of this semester, includes a dance studio and an area designed for theater-in-the-round productions. Preston Hall, the former dining commons, has been partially renovated; drama rehearsals have been held there since Feb. 1. The college gymnasium will be available for dance classes, and part of the Physical Plant's truck garage for set construction. A "utilitarian, pragmatic" building will be built to house the drama-dance program as long as is necessary; the building is so located that it can later serve any of the continually evolving programs that put new demands on college space. Kline pointed out that the coachhouse was never considered as the college's permanent theater. The building was a converted, wood structure, conforming to safety regulations with the addition of exits and maximum use of fire-proofing materials. The Long-Range Planning Committee was well aware that such a program necessarily involves inflammable materials and electric equipment and had included a new Performing Arts Center on its priority list drawn up in the 1960s, according to Kline.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Welcome Wagon Club Plans Busy Season

Board members of The Greater Kingston Welcome Wagon Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Gerald Beinhower of Stone Road, West Hurley. Several upcoming activities were discussed.

Munchin' Mates will lunch at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday. Those interested in attending should meet at Caldor Parking Lot, facing Route 9W, at 12-noon sharp. Immediate reservations should be made with Mrs. James Hagedorn of Adeline Sprague.

On Saturday, there will be a "Culinary Happening" in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kramer, Wittenberg Road, Woodstock. Theme will be Emerald Isle Buffet. Deadline is Tuesday.

The regular meeting is slated for Tuesday, March 13, at 8 p.m. at the Bonanza Branch of Heritage Savings Bank, Route 9W, Kingston. The 10th anniversary of the Kingston Branch of the Club will be observed. Special program will be a Chinese Auction. Members and guests are invited.

The Sew 'n Sews will meet Thursday, March 15, at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Paul Witonsky, 220 Albany Avenue, Kingston. Pre-schoolers are invited. Those planning to attend should notify Mrs. Witonsky by March 13.

Board members will meet Tuesday, March 20, at the home of Mrs. John Parker, Stony Hollow, West Hurley.

A card party and wig show, courtesy of Peter's Wig Corner, is planned for Tuesday, March 27, at 7:45 p.m. at Benedictine Senior Residence auditorium, 105 Mary's Avenue, Kingston. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Gerald Beinhower or Mrs. Thomas Olson of Hurley. Awards will be made. Proceeds for the benefit of charity.

Mrs. James Thompson, club president, requests that anyone knowing of newcomers in the area to contact the area hostesses, Mrs. Charles Selzo, Mrs. John Skinner or the answering service.

Deadline Nearing

This Thursday is the deadline for the Beautiful Baby Contest, a ways and means project of Saugerties Jaycees. Proceeds from the event will be donated to the scholarship fund.

Committee members urge parents and grandparents to enter their children and grandchildren in the contest. The children must be one to four years of age and residents of Ulster County. A one dollar entry fee and a recent photograph of the child should be sent to Beautiful Baby Contest, Saugerties Jaycees, Route 1, Box 452 A, Saugerties. Names, addresses and ages of the children should appear on the back of the photograph, along with the parents' name and address.

First place award will be a $50 U.S. Savings Bond; second place, a professional portrait from Glendale Studio, Saugerties; third place, $10 gift certificate from London's of Saugerties. Additional details may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Frank Eskesen, 19 Redwood Road, Saugerties.

OFFICERS INSTALLED — The Women's Guild for Christian Service of Hurley Reformed Church held installation of officers at its recent covered dish luncheon and business meeting. Heading the organization for 1973 will be (L-R) Mrs. Richard Ruth Jr., president; Mrs. Earnest Myer, vice president; Mrs. Robert Lawton, treasurer; and Mrs. Kenneth Sandberg, secretary. The Rev. Harold Schadevald conducted the service. Mrs. William Mullinax will serve as the new Altar Guild chairman and Mrs. George Brown is spiritual leader for the year. A covered dish supper is planned for April. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Variety of Classes Offered During March at the YWCA

The YWCA has notified the Women's Department of The Freeman that registrations are now being taken for a variety of classes to be offered during March at 209 Clinton Avenue.

Slimnastics Class will be held on Monday mornings at 9:30, starting March 12. Shape up for spring exercises will be given by Mrs. Fred Port.

Relaxation and Meditation: Monday evenings from 8 to 9, starting today. Bob Burg will be instructing an easy to understand, non-mystical, introduction to achieving a profound state of mental calmness and physical relaxation. For anyone interested in moving toward the center of his or her own being and in gaining freedom from an overworked mind.

Sculpture: Beginning classes in clay and wire will be taught by Alice Rhoades on Tuesday evenings at 6:30, starting March 7.

Art Workshop: An art course for adults or teens, using oils, acrylics, charcoal, will be taught by Alice Rhoades on Tuesday evenings at 8 starting March 20.

Needlecraft: Instructions and help with all types of needlework by Jean Keator of the Sit 'n Knit Shop is held on Tuesday evenings at 7:30.

Fix-It Course: Lenny Price will instruct women in the use of tools and how to make simple home repairs. Wednesday afternoons at 1, starting March 7.

Patchwork Quilting: Helen Fischer is teaching the art of Patchwork Quilting on Wednesday afternoons at 1.

Social Dance class for adults and teens is held on Wednesday evenings at 7:30, starting March 14 with Audrey Shultis as the instructor.

Bridge: Lessons in Beginning Bridge are taught by Mrs. C. Russell Edwards on Monday evenings at 7:30.

Intermediate Sewing: An opportunity to make an Easter outfit, with instructions by Diana Van Campenhout on Thursday mornings at 9:30, starting March 8.

Weaving: Laurel Porterfield is teaching how to make woven articles, such as belts and pocketbooks, on Thursday mornings at 10, with a new class starting March 22. The class will also make its own flat and inca looms at a nominal fee.

Guitar: Bob Lusk is teaching beginning and intermediate guitar on Saturday mornings at 10, and Thursday evenings at 7.

Self Defense classes are being held at the Woodstock Reformed Church at Thursday evenings at 7:30; instructions to adults, teens and pre-teens, in judo, karate and boxing, by Lenny Price.

Baton lessons are held on Saturday mornings at 10. Kathleen Fesko is the instructor.

A Book Discussion Club is being formed on Wednesday, March 7, at 2 with lively discussions by book-lovers, on anything and everything from Faulkner through Sophocles, from Aristophanes to Portnoy's Complaint.

Music Goers Club is also forming for people interested in getting together to go to New York City, Saratoga and the performing arts.

VOLLEYBALL teams are forming again. Anyone interested is asked to phone the YWCA.

Information regarding the above classes is available at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue. The YWCA is a member of the Ulster County United Way.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1973, Emily Post Institute, Inc.

With all the fashion magazines available today, no woman who cares about clothes at all could fail to know what's "in" in fashion — although, right at this moment there isn't much that is "in" or "out"; almost anything goes. And that makes it more important than ever to know what is always "in" as far as you're concerned — what is right for you.

Today's quiz will remind you of the features that you should consider when you are picking out your clothes.

1. Q. If there is a little more of you than there ought to be, you should wear bold patterns and bright colors to distract the eye from the bulges. True or False.

A. False. Small prints, vertical stripes and solid colors disguise excess weight much more effectively.

2. Q. The most flattering neckline for a tall, thin girl is a round or scoop neck. True or False.

A. False. A turtleneck or high collar helps to shorten a long neck and at the same time hides bony collar bones which are exposed by a scoop line or low-cut dresses.

3. Q. A dress with a waistline is a good choice for a tall thin girl. True or False.

A. True. The waistline breaks the long skinny pipe look of a shift or princess line, which tend to make the body look even longer than it is.

4. Q. Girls with heavy hips should choose pants suits with long jackets. True or False.

A. True. The long jacket not only hides the hips, but slims the figure by covering the break of the waistline.

5. Q. The princess line is good for a girl with an overweight problem. True or False.

A. True — a very good choice. It slims the waist without the actual break of a belt, and slims the hips by the counteracting flair at the bottom of the skirt.

6. Q. Tall girls should wear "flats" to minimize their height. True or False.

A. False. They should wear whatever height heel is comfortable and flattering to their legs. They should also stand up straight and show their height proudly. All their clothes will look better that way than if they slouch.

7. Q. Heavy girls should wear an elasticized bathing suit, which might act as a girdle. True or False.

A. False. No tight suit can conceal the excess pounds. The best choice is a suit with a slim, unbroken line and a neat skirt to hide flabby upper thighs.

His Hunting Methods Not Christian

DEAR ABBY: May I add my comment to "Hunter's Wife," concerning a husband who loves to hunt:

A minister I knew in the Army more than a quarter of a century ago once told me that far too many deer were only wounded, and went off into the woods to die in agony.

"My system," he explained, "is to break the deer's leg with my first shot. Then I send my dogs after him. They drive him to my car, and I shoot him there, so I don't have to carry him, but can load him right on."

In short, Abby, people who love to kill will always find a way to rationalize their cruelty.

C.H. IN N.Y.C.

DEAR C.H.: I am appalled. I hope that minister

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

didn't preach what he practiced.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24, and my husband is 26. We both work and don't have any children, which is a good thing, because my husband is getting on my nerves.

We never go anywhere or do anything because he never wants to. I make enough money to have my own car, but he doesn't want me to have one. He'd rather drive me to work and pick me up and have me ask him if I want to use HIS car on weekends. When he lets me, he gives me a time limit, which isn't very long. When I come home he quizzes me on where I went and who I saw.

My younger sister is a high school cheerleader, so when I go to my mother's and she's home, she and I practice cheers and I help her make up some routines because I used to be a cheerleader, too. My husband just hates that. He keeps saying: "You're not in high school any more. You're a married woman, so grow up and act like one." Then he cuts the visit short and says: "Let's go home, I'm bored."

He's also very jealous with no reason. I found out he PAYS some of the neighborhood kids to watch my house and write down the exact time they see me coming and going.

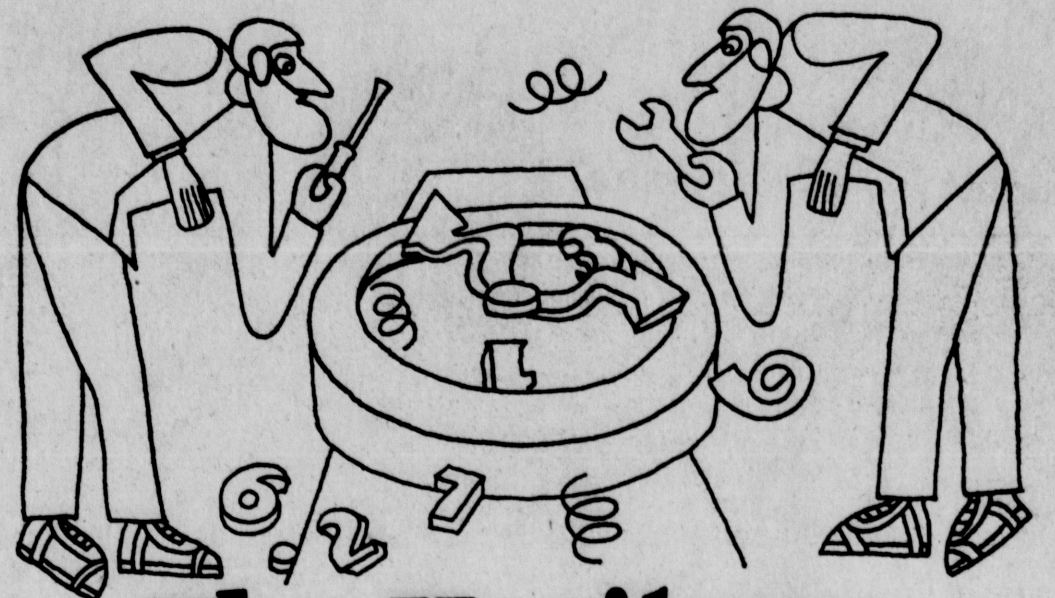

What do you think of this marriage?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: I think it's time you and your husband went somewhere together. For openers, try a marriage counselor. I've heard only your side of it, but your husband sounds like an immature, possessive, selfish sourpuss to me. You have a whole lifetime ahead of you, so you'd better learn how to get along with each other — or without. But don't go on this way.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

The Heritage clock is alive and well.

In response to numerous inquiries regarding the welfare and whereabouts of the beloved old timepiece so long a Wall Street landmark and recently so callously struck down in the dark of night by an unidentified motorist, the officers of Heritage Savings Bank have issued a statement, reproduced in part as follows:

"... the clock is now in intensive care, where it is receiving the close attention of the finest technicians in the greater Kingston area. Indications are that repairs and reconstruction will involve transplant of at least some of its major works as well as a general facelift. It is expected that, barring unforeseen complications, the clock will be back at the same old stand in the near future."

HVP Fund Drive Is on Now; Bill Naney Named Chairman

"I wish we could talk to everyone in Ulster County about the Hudson Valley Philharmonic's 'Operation Telefund,' explaining it not as a fund drive but as an educational campaign," says Bill Naney of Kingston, chairman of the HVP drive in Ulster.

More than 6000 people will be contacted this week in Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties in an effort to raise $30,000. The funds are needed to sustain the many youth participation and educational projects such as the in-school concert program, the Young Artist Competition, the orchestra-in-progress, and the HVP Music School which is new this year.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic is unique, in that, compared to most other orchestras in the U.S., the HVP has one of the highest percentages of earned income. Of its budget of $350,000, 70 per cent of it is earned. 30 per cent must be raised annually by donations, endowment fund investments and fund raising events — the book sales, aluminum drives, the wine tasting party, benefit concerts, fairs.

The New York State Award lauded the Philharmonic in recognizing the "persistent and successful efforts in developing a regional orchestra of high calibre and stature." Those efforts were made by people all over the Hudson Valley who supported the Philharmonic. The HVP must continue to rely on the community it serves as its strength is determined by its community support.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:
Right now I'm on a bland diet.

My food chart suggests melba toast or zwieback instead of ordinary toasted bread. However, I have discovered a simple and easy way to convert bread into homemade zwieback.

Put a few slices (butter if desired) in a pan and place in the oven overnight. The pilot light keeps the temperature slightly warm — in the morning the bread slices will be thoroughly dried out and crisp — really delicious. M.M.

Dear Heloise:
Don't we all have pretty comode seat covers left after the matching rug is worn out? At last I have found a use for them.

Take two covers (mix or match the colors) and top stitch them together, leaving a space for stuffing; this makes a very nice floor pillow. If you want to be fancy, gather fringe and sew between the two pieces. Florence E. Davies

That is a good way to make use of those seat covers. I've always bought another rug to match or blend but your hint is great! Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Do you ever get tired of licking those trading stamps? Then try my easy method.

Get a watercolor paint brush at the dime store, fill jar lid with water, then paint that water on your stamps, and paste them in your stamp book in a jiffy. No more sore tongue from licking the glue on those trading stamps. Louise Wright

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, March 6

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you wish to put some new ventures into execution, but it would be a most unwise course. It is suggested you study your activities and be more prepared to put them in motion on another day. Be sure to sidestep a brewing argument. Avoid expressing prejudices. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are irritated and want to blast at others, but silence would be your best weapon now. Study the work you have to do.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

COMPETITION: (Q) I am 14, cute and very interested in boys. My best friend, Susan, is also 14 and very, very attractive. When we go by cute boys they never look at me. They always look at her. They make me feel like I am ugly or something.

Since last summer she has gone out with seven boys. I have gone out with none!

Everyone tells me I shouldn't hang around with someone prettier than myself but I like Susan very much. We're been friends for a long time, but just watching while she has all the fun is getting old.

What should I do?—Stay At Home in Connecticut.

(A) You can be friends with Susan, but you don't have to be with her every minute. Try walking alone a good part of the time—or with girls who are not so dazzling.

ASKED: (Q) Linda is my friend. Not my best friend but a good friend. She is going with Joe. Linda's mother doesn't like Joe. She has asked me to break them up—she knows Joe sort of likes me too. How should I do it, or should I?—Pamela in Pennsylvania

(A) You shouldn't. That would be meddling. It would not be fair to Linda or Joe or you. Stay away from it.

If Linda's mother insists that you try, tell her you can't do it.

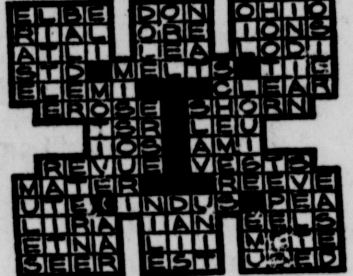

If she keeps on insisting, talk to your parents about what she has proposed.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Crime Shows... 'Hot Streak'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Al-Falk's understated human side is probably what makes the series work more than anything else. This personal quality is essential because after a while the formulas of most shows are bound to wear somewhat thin.

Series about private eyes, law officers, agents and investigators, comprise a considerable portion of regular prime time programming.

Among these programs are such entries as "Columbo," "Mannix," "Barnaby Jones," "Hawaii Five-O," "Madigan," "McMillan & Wife," "Cannon," "The Rookies," "Ironside" and "Mission: Impossible."

Others include "Adam-12," "The FBI," "Banacek," "The Streets of San Francisco," "McCloud," "Hec Ramsey," "The Mod Squad," "Search," "Assignment: Vienna" and "Jigsaw." "Columbo" has become a ratings sensation. Starring Peter Falk in the title role as a police detective, it is an effective piece of its type, vastly better than most television shows in its category.

The stories were so good in "Naked City" that the show transcended the mere crime category. And the acting of the gangster types in "The Untouchables" was pretty wondrous almost all of the time, so that this program was like nothing else on the home tube.

"Columbo," in its texture and tone, isn't really very different from some other less successful series on television these days. The difference is that these other shows don't have as shrewd a concept, and they don't have Falk.

Government to Wounded Knee Indians...No Immediate Arrests

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Peace talks in a tepee were scheduled today at Wounded Knee, a hamlet held since Tuesday by militant Indians who have burned a government proposal to end the armed stand-off.

The Justice Department proposed late Sunday that the 200 Indians who invaded Wounded Knee could depart with no threat of arrest.

The federal offer stipulated the Indians must depart without their weapons and that only males must identify themselves as they pass through federal lines.

Federal officials said a grand jury investigation at a later date would determine if charges were warranted.

The Indians, led by officials of the American Indian Movement, jeered at the proposal in their camp Sunday night. They burned the paper on which the offer was written.

"We decided the Indian people are more important to us than jail terms," said Carter Camp, an AIM leader. "We've got to force the government to come to terms with us."

About the same time, the Indians offered a peace proposal under which they would remain in this village where 146 Sioux and 31 U.S. soldiers died in an 1890 showdown.

The Indians also proposed negotiations for supplies and said that any federal arraignments or legal actions should be held here. They asked all civil rights and peace movement volunteers to gather here.

The Indians' announcement Sunday of their determination to stay here came after a meeting with New York attorney William Kunstler, who arrived earlier in the day.

Late Sunday, a Justice Department spokesman declined comment on the AIM proposal and announced that peace talks started Sunday would resume at noon EST today in a tepee. The tepee is on no-man's land between the Indian outposts and the perimeter of 150 federal lawmen surrounding Wounded Knee.

AIM leaders Russell Means and Dennis Banks refused to attend Sunday's session after they learned the senior U.S. official, Ralph Erickson, special assistant to the U.S. attorney general, was not present. U.S. attorneys for North and South Dakota represented the government.

Means said: "We don't want to deal with the lower echelon flunkies of the federal government any longer. They don't show up for meetings. They are not dependable. American Indian Movement negotiations will have to be with the Secretary of the Interior and also with the White House, with congressmen and senators in attendance."

The 200 Indians took over Wounded Knee, ransacked a trading post, confiscated about 20 weapons and held 11 residents of the village hostage until noon Thursday.

Troop Withdrawal Resumed By U.S.

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States resumed its withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam and sweeping North Vietnam's harbors of mines today within hours of the release of 106 more POWs by the Communists.

In the post-truce hostilities, the level of fighting tapered off Sunday with only 26 Communist cease-fire violations reported by the Saigon command. But a spokesman said a government-

UH-1 "Huey" helicopter was shot down late Saturday by a Soviet-built SA-7 Strella anti-aircraft missile with four crewmen and two soldiers killed in the crash 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnam accused the Saigon government of post-truce violations today, the Hanoi accusation asserting the South Vietnamese have a "white book" detailing plans for mass extermination and torture of prisoners of war.

In Honolulu, the U.S. Pacific Command headquarters said U.S. warplanes again flew bombing raids against Communist positions Sunday in Cambodia at the request of the Phnom Penh government. As usual, there was no elaboration on the strikes, which almost daily have been hitting the only Southeast Asian country without a formal cease-fire.

The American program to pull troops out of Vietnam and clear mines from the ports of the north were suspended last Wednesday when the Communists balked at carrying out the scheduled release of U.S. POWs held in Hanoi. The dispute was resolved later in Saigon and Paris.

The United States, satisfied that the prisoner release was proceeding as planned, resumed the withdrawals and sent the minesweepers back into action Sunday.

Radio Hanoi reported the appearance Sunday of the minesweeping force in waters off Haiphong harbor and a U.S. military source said it anticipated the exercise to remove the mines could begin within a few days. As the first "Freedom Bird" carrying U.S. troops out of Vietnam prepared to lift off Sunday from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base, a U.S. command spokesman said 10,787 American military men were still in the country. Under terms of the Jan. 27 Vietnam truce, all must leave by March 28.

One Week Closing

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The European Common Market ordered its money markets closed for one week starting today to give its nine members, Japan and the United States, time to work out an overall solution to the latest world monetary crisis.

It called for a meeting with the United States and other rich Western nations Friday.

The Markets' week-long closure was the first such step since World War II, although the money markets have been closed for shorter periods during monetary crises. The action symbolized the seriousness of the latest money crisis.

In Tokyo, banking officials said Japan was likely to keep its foreign exchange closed until the powerful European markets reopen.

The Market decision came Sunday at a 5-hour emergency meeting after a week marked by another round of heavy selling of unwanted dollars by speculators who are afraid the dollar cannot maintain its value overseas despite a 10 per cent devaluation Feb. 13.

As they announced the closing of money markets, Market finance ministers said they also asked the United States and the rest of the world's richest Western countries to meet Friday in Paris to discuss the second monetary crisis of the year.

The Market ministers said they would meet again Thursday, to make plans for the Friday meeting, then will meet again next Sunday — "to draw conclusions," as one minister put it.

Other nations asked to join in the Paris talks include the so-called "Group of 10," the world's richest Western nations, among them Canada, Sweden, Japan and Switzerland.

Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, managing director of the International Monetary Fund (IMF), attended the Sunday meeting as representative of an organization created nearly 30 years ago to make sure the world money system works effectively.

Labor Has 'Stick in the Closet'...Meany

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany warns that organized labor has "a stick in the closet" if the administration's Phase III economic program is not applied with equity.

Meany, the head of 14 million union members, said Sunday he wanted to cooperate with President Nixon "in order to keep the prices down."

But he complained of "gallop-ing inflation" and food prices that were "absolutely running wild." "The only thing we have got under control is the workers' wages, and we think this is eminently and very definitely unfair," Meany said.

Meany criticized statements by Nixon that it would not be wise to continue controls on rents and by Treasury Secretary George Shultz that it would not be good to control farm prices.

"The President is saying (to) the landlord, we can't touch him because he will go on strike if we touch him, and George Shultz is saying, the farmer, we can't touch him, he will go on strike—he won't plant."

"So the point is... that there is a stick in the closet for labor," Meany said.

His reference was to a statement Nixon made earlier this year that he had a big stick in his closet that he would use if inflation got out of line. Meany was interviewed on NBC's Meet the Press.

He said he was "mystified" by the statements of administration officials last week that the 5.5 per cent wage ceiling in earlier phases of the economic program would be strictly enforced in the current Phase III.

Meany said the Advisory Committee to the Cost of Living Council, which was assigned the task of recommending policy for Phase III, drafted a statement saying no single wage standard could be applied practically to the economy.

"If you ask me where we are going on the 5.5 per cent, I am just as mystified as you are," Meany said.

"I am quite sure that there will be higher settlements... and I am quite sure they will be approved by the Cost of Living Council this year as they were last year."

Nixon Defends Subsidized Housing Suspension

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — The U.S. government is becoming "a nationwide slumlord," President Nixon told a national radio audience Sunday while defending his decision to eliminate scores of urban renewal projects and suspend subsidized housing programs.

In the fifth installment of a serialized State of the Union report to the nation, Nixon said he wanted to turn community planning over to state and local officials.

The President said Congress would receive a written message on community development and "the quality of life in our cities and towns" later this week. He indicated that new legislation in these areas would be proposed but gave no hint when it would be sent to Capitol Hill or what it might contain.

Nixon was expected to spend today at Camp David accompanied by his close friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo and his personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods. In his speech, Nixon gave an optimistic assessment of urban America's general outlook now, compared with a few years ago when "we constantly heard" that the nation's cities and towns were "on the brink of collapse."

Nixon claimed the nation's air is now cleaner, said the financial condition of most local governments has been shored up and cited a decrease in the crime rate.

"The hour of crisis has passed," he said. "The ship of state is back on an even keel, and we can put behind us the fear of cap-sizing," he declared.

Other cardinals came from around the world and included only eight Italians, an unusually low figure in a body once dominated by Italians.

Three Americans Named Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI created 31 new Roman Catholic cardinals today, including three Americans and one Czech who was named secretly in 1969, in a ceremony stripped of much of the rich splendor of its past.

Among the new cardinals were three Americans, the archbishops of Los Angeles, Boston and San Juan.

One of the new cardinals, Czech bishop Stepan Trochta, 68, was chosen by the Pope at his last consistory in 1969, but he was not publicly named then because of the delicate position of the Church in Czechoslovakia.

The Pope also disclosed he named Romanian bishop Julius Hossu as a cardinal in 1969, but he died before he could assume his new title. Both men were named "in pectore (within the breast)," meaning the Pope could keep their names secret until he decided to disclose them.

The new cardinals, 30 of them named princes of the Church a month ago by the Pope, took their new title today when the Pope read out their names to the existing College of Cardinals.

The consistory promoting the 31 men—one could not make it to Rome for health reasons—was the fourth in the reign of Paul and the shortest. It increased the total number of cardinals to a record 144.

It also was the first such ceremony at the Vatican since 1969.

The new American cardinals include Humberto S. Medeiros of Boston, Timothy Manning of Los Angeles and Luis Aponte Martines of San Juan, the first Puerto Rican cardinal in the 1,000-year history of the College of Cardinals.

Other cardinals came from around the world and included only eight Italians, an unusually low figure in a body once dominated by Italians.

IMPORTANT
...FOR YOU!

A&P POLICY:

Always do what is honest and fair for every customer.

RAINCHECK:

If an advertised special is ever sold out ask the Manager for a Raincheck. It entitles you to the same item at the same special price the following week. Or if you wish we'll give you a comparable item at the same special price.

GUARANTEE:

A&P offers an unconditional money-back guarantee. No matter what it is, no matter who makes it, if A&P sells it, A&P guarantees it.
